

NO-BURN® TREATS EL SEGUNDO, CA HOME FOR EXTREME MAKEOVER: HOME EDITION

AIRED NOVEMBER 27, 2005

Extreme Makeover: Home Edition surprised El Segundo police officer Bruce Lewis, his wife Paulita (who suffers from terminal cancer) and their two children, announcing that a complete overhaul on their modest El Segundo home would be completed for free in about a week.

Low interest rates allowed the family a chance to remodel their 1,100-square-foot house, but work was slow and poor. The winter's record rains severely damaged the roof of the home and it gave way, ruining the Lewis' furniture and possessions. When Bruce confronted the contractor, he allegedly took off, leaving the project incomplete and the family out $40,000.

In close-knit El Segundo, neighbors and friends pitched in, organizing fund-raisers and doing what they could, but it wasn't enough.

In the meantime, Bruce, Paulita and their children stayed in a single bedroom at Bruce's mother's apartment.

The No-Burn® Team treated the new Lewis home and helped out where needed on the job site.
